To get "Something for Nothing"

The railroads have received 44 "rules" demands from the leaders of the operating unions . . . representing engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen. They say they are seeking only changes in working conditions—NOT a wage increase.

More Money For Less Work

But what kind of rules are being asked for? Twenty-eight of them would compel railroads to pay more money for the same, or less work; 7 would require additional and unnecessary men to do the same work; the rest would bring about changes in operating practices at increased cost.

For Instance:

The Union leaders demand additional train and engine crews on Diesel-powered trains—one full crew for every power unit in the locomotive. A freight train hauled by a 4-unit Diesel would have to carry 4 engineers, 4 firemen, 4 conductors, and at least 8 brakemen, or a total of 20 men instead of 5.

"Made Work"—Sheer Waste

The Union leaders demand that full-length freight trains be cut to about half their length, even though such trains are most efficient for low-cost service to you. This rule would call for twice as many locomotives, would double the number of trains, and make accidents more likely.

Additional equipment, yards, and other facilities required to take care of these short trains would cost hundreds of millions. What the Union leaders really want is to make more jobs.

The Union leaders demand that when a crew in one class of service perform incidental service of another class, they will be paid not less than a day's pay for each class, even though all service is performed as a part of the same day's work. The crew would get at least two days' pay for one day's work.

The Union leaders demand that the present basic day for passenger conductors and trainmen be reduced from 150 to 100 miles, which would have the effect of increasing their pay 50%. Such a run often takes only two or three hours!

You Can't Afford This Waste

Demands like these are against the interests of the whole American people, who depend on railroad service for nearly everything they eat, wear and use.

These rules would cost A BILLION DOLLARS annually—a gigantic waste which neither the railroads nor the country can afford.

Railroad workers are good citizens and good employees, with pride in their calling. Their record during the war was outstanding. We do not believe they fully understand the "featherbed" rules which the Union leaders are demanding. We do not believe they understand the harmful results which these rules would have to the railroad industry, to the millions of men and women dependent on railroads for their livelihood, and to the shipping and consuming public.

The great strength of America is in production—an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

For only through greater production can we hope to stop the steady upward surge of living costs.

Surely, if ever there was a time in our history when we needed to work, not waste, this is it.

Vacation Church Schools Taught Christian Conduct

The closing exercises of the Daily Vacation Church School at Ballardvale last Monday evening brought to an end the work of the two vacation church schools in Andover, which were sponsored by the Andover Council of Churches. The other school which participated in this activity, the one at the Free church, concluded its sessions two weeks ago.

It is doubtful if more than a few people in this town realize the nature and the value of the work that has been done in these schools, or know how many people have given freely of their time and energy to plan and carry out a worthwhile program.

At the Free Church School the sessions extended over two weeks, July 14-25, five days a week, from 9 until 11:45 a. m. Seventy-six children were enrolled, representing three departments, kindergarten, primary and junior, with an average attendance of fifty-five.

The theme, or primary purpose of this school was to teach the children how to work with God in His world, and was approached in two ways: (1) by providing opportunities to learn to know God better and to discover how He works in the world; (2) by providing experience in helping God to make this an orderly, happy world through practicing Christian conduct in every-day living.

The daily schedule was as follows: 9-9:20, worship service, entire school; 9:20-11:30, instruction, music, games and other activities, handwork, planned to suit the needs and wishes of each age group; 11:30-11:45, closing exercises.

The handwork was planned so that each child could enjoy some definite accomplishment during the session and might have something to keep, something to give to a friend or member of the family, and something to share with others outside.

The children brought daily offerings to the schools, and, including the collection at the closing exercises, which a large number of parents and friends attended, they contributed the astonishing total of $46.38. This money was used for the relief of unfortunate children in Europe.

Mrs. C. Edward Buchan was the director of the school, and was also in charge of one of the departments. She was assisted by a faculty of thirteen: Rev. Frederick B. Noss, Rev. Wendell Bailey, Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast, Mrs. Alman Daniels, Miss Marion Denison, Mrs. Charles Shattuck, Miss Marilyn Brown, Miss Dorothy Keating, Miss Marion Noss, Miss Ruth Weamer, Mrs. Herbert Brown, Miss Barbara Loomer, and Miss Jane Noss.

Others who contributed by putting on special program items as surprises were Rev. John G. Gaskill, Mrs. J. J. Tavern, Mrs. Tyler Carlton, Miss Margaret Lane, Mrs. Arthur Lewis, Mrs. Joseph Hart and Miss Joan Hart, Mr. Ivar Sjostrom, Miss Lillian Fox and Miss Fannie Davis.

At Ballardvale ninety boys and girls ranging in age from four to fourteen enrolled in the Vacation

Bible School held at the Union Congregational church and the Methodist church from July 21 to August 1. The school was under the general direction of the Rev. Arnold Kenseth, pastor of the Union Congregational church; and there were three departments, each with a superintendent and a staff of teachers. Mrs. David Reynolds was in charge of the primary department, made up of children 4 to 7; teachers in the primary department were: Mrs. Henry Meyers, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Mrs. Ralph Greenwood, Mrs. John Wilson, Ann McFarlane, Mary Elizabeth Green, Marguerite Greenwood and Joyce Ormsby. In the junior department for boys and girls 8 to 10 were Mrs. Charles Scobie, superintendent; Mrs. Frank Green, Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, Harriet Schofield, Andrea Hofer. Teachers in the intermediate department for boys and girls 11 to 14 were: Rev. Arnold Kenseth, Mrs. Charles Langdell, Mrs. Henry Peatman and Frances Buckley. In charge of music were Mrs. Arnold Kenseth and Miss Margaret Hadley. Average daily attendance was 75.

The daily program ran as follows: 9-9:30, opening exercises, processional, salute to the American and Christian flags, worship service and daily offering, announcements and dismissal for classes; 9:30-10:30, class period — primary department: simple hymns, story, prayers; juniors: Old Testament stories, 100th psalm, psalm scripts, production of a Joseph play; intermediates: study of Protestant church organization, election of church officers, preparation of a worship service; 10:30-11:00, recess and song session; 11:00-12:00, handwork period — primary department: children made paper hats, Japanese lanterns, paper chains, animal stand-ups, sewing cards, cardboard sleds, religious wall murals, finger-painting; junior department: the boys and girls made worship centers, tea tiles, salt sculpture, finger-painting, table crumbers; intermediates: wooden ash trays, table hot pads, scrapbooks, sprinklers, finger-painting.

On onday evening, August 4, at 7 p. m., closing exercises were held at the Union Congregational church. There was a service of worship in the church led by Rev. Kenseth; and in the vestry, strikingly arranged on walls and tables, was an exhibit of the work of the entire school. Many parents and friends attended.

The success of the two schools is due to the directors, Mrs. C. Edward Buchan and Rev. Arnold Kenseth, and to their co-workers, all of whom gave unstintingly of their time and talents to make this program possible. The excellent attendance at both of the schools and the interest and enthusiasm of the youngsters present attest to the value of this kind of religious training and confirm the belief of the Andover Council of Churches that the Daily Vacation Bible School should have a permanent place in the summer activities of this community.

Camp Onway News

Neighborhood Commissioner Arnold Schofield of Ballardvale is Waterfront Director; Senior Patrol Leader Gregory of Troop 72 and Senior Patron Leader D a n n y Worcester of Troop 75 are members of the Camp Staff.

Justin Curry of Troop 72, Bob Hatton of Troop 73, and Clifford Lawrence of Troop 76 have been patrol leaders at camp. Scout Curry has been patrol leader of the Wolf Patrol of Abnaki Troop 1, Scout Hatton has been patrol leader of the Lion Patrol of Pedhala Troop 2, and Scout Lawrence leads the Tiger Patrol of Pedhala Troop 2. Patrol Leader Eddie Dean of Troop 71 has been assistant patrol leader of the Raven Patrol of Abnaki Troop 1.

Eddie Dean, Tommy Wilkinson, David Wilkinson and Peter Miller of Troop 71 returned to Andover from camp on August 3.

For the week ending July 27 only one Camp Honor award was given out. The coveted "CO" went to Scout Robert Hatton of Troop 73 of the South Church, Andover. It was also a three year award. Scout Tommy Wilkinson of Troop 71 was awarded the Camp Honor Award for the week ending August 3rd.

Joseph T. Gagne of the Camp Committee of the North Essex Council visited camp on Sunday, August 3rd.

Successful Search

The scouts at Camp Onway did a good piece of work when they found the wife of the Chief Aanger at the Pawtuckaway Reservation who was lost in the dense forest. The scouts left in trucks supplied by the State and were later divided into groups of ten, each under the leadership of a New Hampshire State Trooper. The scouts slept at the Pawtuckaway Reservation and were fed there by the Chief Ranger. Practically every inch of the twelve mile reservation was covered and when the missing woman was found the tired boys felt very pleased that they had done a real good turn. Field Scout Executive Nestor Eno thanked the boys that night during an assembly. In addition to food cooked at the Reservation, one meal was brought over from Camp Onway, and the American Red Cross was there with sandwiches and refreshments.

Playground News

Gold Ribbon Dog

A dog owned by Paul Payne won the gold ribbon recently at the annual pet show held at Ballardvale.

Other winners were: Dogs, second prize, Joan Lakin; third prize, Richard Lawrence.

Cats: first, Patricia Smalley; second, Darlene Payne; third, Sylvia Zalla.

Playground Carnival

The annual playground carnival of the Ballardvale playground will be held on August 20 on the Andover street playground. Many articles will be on sale, and a block dance will be held in front of the community building.

The committees are as follows: general chairman, Mrs. John Duke; bakery table, Mrs. Charles Scobie, chairman; Mrs. James Butler, Mrs. George G. Brown and Mrs. James Morton; candy, Mrs. Foster Matthews, chairman; Mrs. James Nicoll; grabs, Mrs. James Schofield, chairman, assisted by a group of girls; hot dogs and frankfurts, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Smalley and Mr. and Mrs. A. Lumenello; coffee and corn, James Sparks, chairman; Charles Scobie and Frank Green; pony rides, Mrs. George Forsythe, chairman; white elephant table, Mrs. Edward LeFebvre, chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Greenwood and girls; ice cream, Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe; tonic, Mrs. Frank Green, chairman; Mrs. Henry Meyers and Mrs. Pauline McFarlane; special prizes: tickets in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bouleau.

Family Party

A happy family party was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Slate on Argilla road. The hot dogs and hamburg were cooked on an open fire, and home made lemon sherbet and roasted corn completed a very appetizing meal. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Evans, Sr., and Miss Barbara Evans of West Roxbury, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Evans, Jr., of McKeesport, Penn., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ellingson of West Roxbury, Mr. Edward Chapin of Newtonville, Winthrop Adkins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Batchelder and son Randall Earl, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith and David Batchelder.

OUR COVER

Enjoying themselves on our front cover are four young Britons who arrived in the United States as guests of the English Speaking Union this week. They are here to promote friendship between the two countries — in other words, to make friends with four American boys.

The four boys, Richard Ashton King of Perse School, Cambridge; David Linahan of Kingswood School, Bath; Colin R. Porteous of Birkenhead School, Cheshire, and John Boyd of Glasgow Academy, Glasgow, Scotland, met their hosts M. Philip Scullin, Jr., of Prides Crossing, a student at Roxbury Latin School; George H. Abbot of Chestnut Hill, a student at Noble & Greenough School; Richardson White, Jr., of Cohasset, a student at Groton School, and Reeves Hart of Andover, a student at Phillips Academy, when they arrived in Andover, and after visiting places of interest in Boston, they will disperse to the homes of their American hosts until Thursday, August 14.

They will fly to Louisville, Kentucky on August 14th. Before they return to New York on September 3 to board ship for home, they also will have visited Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and Richmond.

AT THE LIBRARY

The new fiction books recently added to the Memorial Hall library may all be reserved by following the usual procedure. All books, old or new, are subject to this ruling, and may be had by signing a postal (self-addressed), payment of one penny, and a little patience. Here are a few of the titles most in demand:

The Dark Fantastic Echard
 In the setting of the post-war period of the Civil war, Judith Amory, a teacher in an Indiana village, ruthlessly preys on Agatha Tomlinson's terror of witchcraft, and after the unfortunate woman's death, claims her bereaved husband for herself. Influences beyond her control soon bring her to a realization of her own helplessness as the story runs into a dramatic ending.

Give Us Our Dream Goertz
 The world needs more Mrs. Marcians, with her unfailing insight into the lives of the people around her in the small apartment house near Times Square. Wherever she could, the little widow tried to make up for dreams that had failed to bring about happiness, insisting that "they don't cost a dime, and yet make life worth living." This book is sentimental, humorous and a little pathetic, but good reading.

The Ebbing Tide Ogilvie
 The third in the already famous trilogy of Maine life. In this long novel, after Nils Sorenson enlisted in the war, his wife remained on their island, carrying on until his return. The loneliness is lightened, but not without complications, by her meeting with Dennis Garland.

The Great Snow Robinson
 This story describes the lives of a New York patent lawyer, his family and guests at his country home on the Hudson at a time when the entire northeast is buried under a great snowfall that covered that part of the world for about three weeks. It is the man's growth into a realization of his abilities that forms the background of the plot.

Puritan Image Gilman
 The story of a Boston family, dominated by Ellen Nourse, who lived in the past and demanded that her son and daughter remain there with her. Prue, the daughter, is unhappily married, and Ridgely, the son, has developed into a weakling because of his dependence on his mother. The solution to their situation is real and well-drawn.

The Moneyman Costain
 The author of "The Black Rose" sets his new romance in 15th century France, at the time of Charles VII, Agnes Sorel, his mistress, and Jacques Coeur, his moneyman, the first great merchant prince of history.

The Side of the Angels McLaughlin
 A penetrating study of two brothers whose differences are brought into sharp relief by their reactions to their experiences in the war.

The Wind That Shakes the Barley Barke

The first of a proposed series of novels on the life of Robert Burns, this covers the poet's father's arrival at Alloway some years before his eldest son's birth and runs through the family lives until the mid-twenties of the Scottish bard.

The Gentle Bush Giles
 Turn of the century novel of a large family on a Louisiana plantation, still using the slave-beating tactics to add to their wealth, and quite unaware of the changing value of human life.

The Oppenheim Secret Service Omnibus Oppenheim
 Three of the earlier Oppenheim books, rare and hard-to-find, combine to make this a find for those who love the author's style. Prophetic when written, they are now almost historical. They are "Mysterious Mr. Sabin," "A Maker of History" and "The Illustrious Prince."

THANKS

We want to express our very sincere thanks to the many who have called in the past few days to tell us about what a wonderful job they feel the Historical Book is.

It's funny what a difference those calls make. In these few short days we've been able to start forgetting the hours of research, the work, the paper shortages, the many headaches that went into the book's production. So thanks again, everybody. It really had to be good for the Andover that we like our town to be.

How To Take Physical Inventory

Neuschel
This book is an outgrowth of an assignment given the authors to plan and direct the taking of a year-end physical inventory in the company with which both were then associated. The book is divided into two parts: the first sets forth the steps to be taken and the considerations to be weighed; the second, presented as an appendix, consists of a manual of inventory instructions that has successfully met the test of use.

The Successful Secretary

Pratt

In two parts, this new vocational book brings something alive into the discussion of the business career—Part one discusses the duties of the average secretary and gives suggestions for interviews, holding a job, routines and hints that earn promotions. Part two is a series of interviews with seven secretaries who hold important jobs, working for such people as Lowell Thomas, Katharine Cornell, Samuel Pryor, Jr., and Eleanor Roosevelt.

The Metropolitan Life

James

A study in business growth, as well as the story of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, the biggest business in the world! It affects the lives of millions of American and Canadian families, invests 7½ billion dollars, has no stockholders and is owned entirely by its millions of policyholders. Here is its growth from a struggling private enterprise, at the time of the Civil war, tracing the influence of insurance in the economic and social growth of the country.

An informal autobiography of one of the world's great violinists, Joseph Szigeti. It is a rambling collection of reminiscences, veering off at unexpected moments into new fields of memory, bringing in almost forgotten incidents and interesting personalities. The book will appeal to music enthusiasts, but is human enough for any reader who enjoys meeting a new and vivid person.

In the Swim

An afternoon of water sports will be held on Sunday, August 10th at Pomp's Pond bathing beach, with swimming, boating and novelty races, as well as several special attractions. During the afternoon Mr. Barnes, director of the Red Cross Life Saving group will demonstrate the art of surf-board life saving and canoeing, while members of the local life saving class will also participate and "do their stuff."

Swimming and life-saving classes have been given for the past month. Special attention and separate teaching are given by appointment for those not able to attend the regular classes.

The water at Pomp's Pond and Hussey's was recently tested, and proved very satisfactory for swimming purposes.

Miss Foley Resigns From Bradlee School

At the special School Committee meeting held Monday evening, the resignation of Miss Rita Foley, teacher in the first grade of the Bradlee School was read, and accepted with regret. Miss Foley has accepted a position as supervisor in the Fitchburg State Teachers' College.

A request from Arthur T. Weiss of the Junior High school faculty for a year's leave of absence due to his health was granted. William J. Synder was given a leave of absence during August, including a week's vacation due him, plus his sick leave.

The following janitors were re-elected for one year at their present salaries:

Fred L. Collins, Charles J. Flanagan, William Stirling, James Walde, George F. Symonds, William J. Snyder, Robert V. Deyermont, Edward O'Hagan, Jr., William G. McDermitt, John K. Hill, Davis McKee and William B. Corliss. Stanley Chlebowski, janitor at the North school, was not re-elected inasmuch as the committee anticipates that the school will not be opened in September since they feel that an enrollment of 15 children as agreed upon will not be reached.

Fire Escape Contract Awarded

The contract for the new fire escape for the Stowe School was awarded to the Hub Steel and Iron Works at the special session of the School Committee held Monday evening, for the lowest bid of $4,435, plus an additional cost of a door, not to exceed $150. Mr. Charles Cifre of that company was present and recommended the minor change in the specifications.

The bids were as follows:
Builders Iron Works of Somerville, $5,465; Fred W. Doyle, Andover, $7,850; Hub Steel & Iron Works, Inc., Somerville, $4,435; Arc-Way Ornamental Iron Works, Roxbury, $6,435 and American Architectural Iron Company, East Boston, $4,880.

Banking System For Public Schools

When the children go back to school in the fall, they will have their own banking system, as proposed by Louis S. Finger, treasurer of the Andover Savings Bank. The plan was approved by the school committee on Monday evening.

Speaking in favor of the project, Miss Barbara Loomer pointed out the benefits of teaching thrift in the schools, and inculcating a knowledge of the value of money at an early age.

Battery F got around quite a bit back in World War I days — and it's still getting around. In fact, it knocked the Andover World War I state guard right out of the Townsman book. The group of young Andover men who got into the struggle just as fast as possible back in 1917 just popped right up on the state guard page. But the home guard did a grand job in these days, too. So here they are, in the cut that had vanished until too late for the book. To both of them we offer our very sincere apologies.

Selections From New England Art Schools In Interesting New Exhibit at Addison Gallery

An exhibition on "Selections from New England Art Schools" is currently being seen at the Addison Art Gallery.

Vocational Art Schools are a distinctive, if relatively small fraction of one of New England's principal "industries"—education. The value of the training they give may best be gauged by observing the work of mature artists who have emerged from them. Here, nevertheless, is an opportunity to examine at its source the present day nature of potential influence on national culture.

Although, both summer and winter, New England offers a great variety of art instruction, this survey is concerned with but seven major art institutions. The exhibition has been further limited arbitrarily to paintings, drawings and prints, partly for reasons of museum convenience, partly because the larger portion of the students' time is devoted to the art of picture making. In some schools the study of industrial and advertising design, as of sculpture, is an important factor in shaping the students' general outlook. It is felt that wherever this influence is significant it should be reflected in painting and drawing and that a limited exhibition, including the schools wherein commercial art is not emphasized, provides a clearer view of the group than would a more comprehensive display.

Quality, rather than variety of media or of individual representation, was the basis of selection. Though the advice of each school has been sought and gratefully received, the final choice was made by the Addison Gallery. Not all the work selected was created during the current year, though, being readily available, the most recent predominates numerically. Selections were made from among works of former students if these were executed before graduation, under the direction of the present teaching staffs.

Considerations in the choice of the work came in the following order:

- a) Quality.
- b) Originality — preference of original composition over mere classroom studies.
- c) Variety—work showing something of the scope of the school and importance in its curriculum of various media.

The material consists of:

- 44 paintings in oil, tempera, encaustic and watercolor.
- 14 drawings in charcoal, ink, pencil, crayon and silverpoint.
- 12 prints in etching, lithography, lino and wood-cut.

The paintings and drawings are hung in the four second floor galleries usually devoted to loan exhibitions and the prints in the print room on the ground floor. No attempt has been made to hang the works by schools but rather so as to gain the most effective overall display and to show the overall range of work currently done in the professional New England Art schools.

The trend seems to be:

1) To give the student, at first, a basic familiarity with various media and with design forms in the Renaissance sense.

2) In the last year, or years, to set him free to work almost entirely on his own.

Even a decade ago the art schools exhibited three very damaging tendencies:

- 1) The imitation of one instructor's mode of expression.
- 2) The imitation of a past style by a student with no real feeling for or knowledge of this period.
- 3) The attempt to force every student to conform to the current academic style.

These tendencies seem to be vanishing in favor of recognizing students' primary aptitudes and helping him to develop along such lines.

Obituaries

BLANCHARD E. RALPH

Blanchard E. Ralph, formerly of this town, died suddenly Thursday, July 31, at his home in Glendale, California. He was the son of the late John Ralph of Andover, and attended Phillips Academy and Dartmouth College. At one time he was a member of the Christ church.

He is survived by his wife, Anna Holt Ralph, formerly of this town; a son, Earl Ralph, Jr.; a brother, Lindsay Ralph of Rhode Island; and two sisters, Pearl Hoyt of Vermont and Gladys Larkin of Maine. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, and burial was in Glendale, California.

GEORGE A. STEWART

George Andrew Stewart, 134 Main street, died suddenly Saturday morning at his home. He was born in Somersworth, New Hampshire, and had made his home in Andover for the past 42 years, being proprietor of an antique shop here for many years. He was employed also as a night watchman at Tyer Rubber company.

He is survived by his wife, Irene (Allen) Stewart; one daughter, Miss Lucy C. Stewart of Andover; one son, Alexander Stewart of Sanford, Maine; one grandson, three nieces, and one nephew.

The funeral was held from the Lundgren funeral home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services by Rev. Herman C. Johnson of Sanford, Maine, former pastor of the Free church. Burial was in Forest Glade cemetery, Somersworth, N. H.

New Radio Station WCCM Opens In Lawrence

There was something new on the air for Merrimack Valley radio listeners Wednesday morning. At that time, WCCM, the new independent radio outlet began its regular schedule of daily broadcasting.

Gordon Ley, General Manager of the station, announced that the program policy of the station would consist of outstanding recorded and transcribed musical shows interspersed with broadcasts of up-to-the-minute news headlines every hour. In addition to this regular schedule of programming, the Special Events staff of the station will take its microphones to important civic and sporting events, and broadcast on-the-spot descriptions of the goings-on as they occur. This type of programming has proved remarkably popular with radio listeners throughout the country.

WCCM will broadcast both from its Lawrence Studios at 54 Essex street and from the Lowell Studios at 11 Kearney Square. Programs will originate from the Lawrence Studios every morning and late afternoon, while the Lowell Studios will broadcast during the Noon hour and up until three o'clock each afternoon. The new station may be heard at 800 on local radio dials.

Plans for the establishment of the station in Lawrence were made more than a year ago by The Lawrence Broadcasting Company which owns and operates the station. President of the company is George H. Jaspert, well-known New England radio executive and consultant. Mr. Jaspert is one of the pioneers in the radio industry, a veteran of 22 years of broadcasting experience, having started with this country's original broadcasting station, KDKA in Pittsburgh in the days of crystal set reception. General Manager of the station is Gordon Ley, electronics and communications expert who was in charge of important government research in communications during the war. Commercial Manager of WCCM is William C. Engle, a veteran of twenty-two years' advertising experience. Mr. Engle came to Lawrence from Manchester, N. H., where he was the commercial manager of The Columbia Broadcasting Company's affiliate in that city. Mr. Engle's radio experience dates back to 1926 when he began his career as an announcer and production manager of WSYR in Syracuse, N. Y. Sales Manager for the Lowell area is attractive, popular, Miss Beth Varnum, the former advertising manager for The Cherry & Webb Department Store. Assistant Miss Varnum is William Malo until recently a resident of Connecticut.

Heading the Production Staff of the new station is Art Rothafel, son of the late world famous showman, known to millions of radio listeners as "Roxy". Nicknamed "Roxy" like his Dad, the WCCM Program manager has had a wide and varied background in entertainment, in the worlds of both motion pictures and radio. He will be heard on the air with his distinctive commentary about commonplace things, "Reviews by Roxy" every week-day morning at 10:45.

Other highly trained radio personalities make up the remainder of the program staff. Like "Roxy" all of them were in the service during the war, and have resumed their radio careers at WCCM. Tom Frank, a native New Englander, comes to the new Merrimack Valley station with twelve years of stage and radio experience behind him. Musically and vocally trained, his will be a voice for easy listening. Most of the broadcasts from the Lowell studios will be handled by Nick Caruso, a Bostonian whose radio experience embraces practically every field of broadcasting. In his many years on the air, he has been a staff announcer, disc jockey and radio producer. Listeners will soon recognize the deep, pleasant voice of Bill Moglia, the youngest and handsomest of the new station's personnel. Bill has appeared in many network dramatic presentations; and his delivery will add distinction to WCCM's Parade of Entertainment. Lou Roche, the early morning keeper of the airwaves on WCCM's "Reveille Roundup" program has a distinctive personality all his own. He promises to make getting up in the early hours of the working day much easier than it might be otherwise. Roche has also written and produced the more serious sort of radio drama. However, he prefers the lighter, informal early morning stint.

EDITORIALS...

It's Too Hot

We've been sort of taking a lay-off from writing editorials the past couple of weeks—or hadn't you noticed. There were a few good reasons. One was that it's been so hot that we didn't feel like getting hot and bothered about anything — and it's still hot. Another was that we were on the final drive on our book, and it was a bit of a drive. The third was that there wasn't much doing anyway to crab about or even not to crab about.

You couldn't really raise much of a fuss about that B. P. W. drill going through all the telephone cables. And if you did, you couldn't even approach the amount of fuss that the drill itself raised. Those things will happen. Many of the school teachers are out of town, and if they're in town, they're not teaching, so there's not much point in talking about the schools during vacation time. Let's see. What else is there? The playgrounds are going along all right, and the concession mixup at Pumps' is all straightened out to somebody's satisfaction. Housing is still a problem, but it's a big one that'll take a lot of co-operation from 'way back — all we know is that we wish there were some houses.

Gosh, it's muggy today, isn't it?

Personal Notes

It was with considerable regret mixed with a great deal of congratulatory pleasure that The Townsman staff took leave of Editor Betty Buchan last week. Betty's gone on to a position where her particular talents will find a greater opportunity for expression than they ever could on a small-town paper, and for her we're all very glad. We're going to miss her here, for she proved a hard-working, diligent, dependable young girl, and she did get out a very good-looking paper. Her interest in Andover's problems was very keen, and she devoted a great deal of her time to participation in Red Cross drives, the housing problem, etc.

And of course you may have heard rumors about us. It's true. We are planning to sell The Townsman and the printing plant, if first of all we can find somebody who will do the job right for the Town of Andover and secondly if we can find someone who can make it worth our while to sell. We're very grateful for the sentiments expressed by those who have urged us not to take this step because they've liked what we've done with The Townsman and what we've made The Townsman stand for in town affairs — but we've been with the paper for fifteen years now, we've taken it through a depression, a recession, and a war, we've built it up so that it's one of the best weeklies in New England, we've taken over a printing plant, tripled its volume and added thousands of dollars worth of new equipment and new type so that today The Townsman Press work is very definitely quality work — and now after fifteen years, we'd like to let somebody else carry on here while we go into a less diversified type of endeavor, something we've wanted to do for a long time. You can't blame us for that, can you? We'll let you know more when things are more definite.

"Be prepared" is a good motto for the good old summer-time, when guests are apt to drop in unexpectedly. So here are some delicious dishes you can fix at your leisure and keep in your refrigerator for such emergencies.

ICE DREAM

This chocolate ice cream made with rich WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK from the A&P is grand to have on hand. Shave 2 squares unsweetened chocolate into top of double boiler. Add 1 cup WHITE HOUSE MILK and 16 whole marshmallows. Cook over boiling water till well blended; cool and add ½ tsp. vanilla. Whip 1 cup chilled WHITE HOUSE MILK till stiff; fold into mixture. Pour into cold freezing tray and freeze at coldest setting. When partially frozen, stir well and continue freezing. Serves 5.

SALAD STANDBY

6 for lunch? Cook an 8-oz. package of A&P's ANN PAGE ELBOW MACARONI (see package directions); drain; chill; add 1 tsp. salt, 2 quartered tomatoes, 1 medium onion (chopped), ½ green pepper (chopped), 1 hard-cooked egg, ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ head Boston lettuce, pepper and paprika. Toss lightly.

SIMPLE SANDWICHERY

Sandwiches make perfect spur-of-the-moment snacks... and MARVEL SANDWICH BREAD makes perfect sandwiches. Guaranteed fresh daily, every loaf gives you plenty of thin, smooth-spreading slices. You'll find this thrifty bread only at A&P. And what a find it is!

FROSTY FAVORITE

I don't think there's a more refreshing warm weather drink than rich, tangy A&P GRAPE JUICE mixed with an equal quantity of ginger-ale. And this heat beater looks as if it came straight from the North Pole when it's served, well iced, in glasses with frosted rims. To frost, I let the rims stand 1 minute in a saucer containing ¼" strained lemon juice, then 1 minute in a plate containing ¼" sifted powdered sugar... and, being careful not to jar the sugared rims, store the glasses in my refrigerator till the sugar sets. Inviting as an igloo!

Pirates of Penzance At Opera Garden, Starting Monday

The first performance of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera "Pirates of Penzance" being presented at the Opera Garden, Porter Road, will take place Monday, August 11, at 8:15 p. m. Other performances will be on Wednesday, August 13 and Friday, August 15. If stormy any night the performance will be postponed to the following night. Since it is usually cool in the garden in the evening, those attending are advised to dress warmly.

The cast of fifty singers, drawn from towns throughout Essex County, will be accompanied by a fifteen-piece orchestra. Norman Priest of Groveland will be in charge of lighting. Those in charge of make-up will be Miss Cornelia Yancy, Miss Carol Reading, and Miss Janice Cole of Andover, and Miss Barbara Coony, Miss Gloria McCoy, Miss Evelyn Bunker, and Walter Kohl of North Andover. Mrs. Carl Thomas of North Andover, Miss Janice Lenane of Lawrence, and Mrs. Earl Young of Andover are assisting in the costuming.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin E. Stevens of Cedar road are vacationing on Cape Cod.

ACCURACY - - Doubly-Sure

And he knows that he can depend upon us for full-potency ingredients because we use only fresh drugs of the highest quality obtainable. We weigh, measure, and mix them with painstaking care — double-checking each step to make accuracy DOUBLY SURE.

HARTIGAN PHARMACY

Tree Warden and A.V.I.S. Join in Poison Ivy Control

Through the generosity of The Andover Village Improvement society in providing the tree warden with 2350 pounds of ammonium sulfamate at a cost of $480, several miles of roadsides have been sprayed in an effort to eradicate poison ivy. Ammonium sulfamate was dissolved in water at the rate of one pound per gallon and sprayed on the leaves of the ivy.

The chemical works from the leaves down through the stem of the plant to the roots. The ivy wilts in a day or two and dries up in about a week. The chemical is not dangerous to use, is not poisonous and is not long harmful to the soil. Anyone using ammonium sulfamate should remember to clean out his sprayer after use, as the chemical will corrode metals in a short time. Washing soda or hydrated lime will help clean the sprayer and counteract the effects of the chemical.

Poison ivy is a very persistent plant to all forms of attack, and it must not be expected that one spray will be permanent. A few roots of the plant may escape and seeds from untreated plants may be carried for some distance.

The tree warden has also experimented with various amounts of a chemical known as 2-4-D. This chemical is sprayed on the leaves and will kill many weeds at regular strength, but it requires double the amount to kill poison ivy. It is harmless to metals, is not poisonous and does not harm most grasses or evergreens.

Care should be taken when using the above chemicals to keep the spray from drifting onto valuable shrubs or plants.

The roadside mower used by the tree department is proving a help in keeping poison ivy back from the edges of our roadsides.

Only the co-operation of every citizen and the town itself will destroy this dangerous plant, poison ivy.

A start has been made. Are we ready to carry on for a better town in which to live?
